The reasons for joining Germantown Jewish Centre are as diverse as our congregants. We call ourselves a “community of communities” because we provide a multitude of opportunities for connecting meaningfully with others--multiple prayer communities for adults and children; Jewish education classes for members of all ages; family-friendly holiday celebrations and social events; and social action programs designed to “repair our world” here in Philadelphia and beyond. We urge you to take part by volunteering in one or more of the many committees, services and events that make GJC the amazing community it is.
